

HOUSING PARTNERS LIMITED (HPL) AND DATA PROTECTION

Data protection

It is a legal requirement for HPL to comply with Data Protection Legislation. It is also HPL's policy to ensure that every employee maintains the confidentiality of any personal data held by HPL in whatever form.

Data protection principles

HPL needs to keep certain information about employees, clients and contracts to enable us to undertake our contractual responsibilities. To comply with the law, information must be:

- collected and used fairly and appropriately, stored, transmitted and handled safely and not disclosed to any other person unlawfully;
- processed lawfully, accurately, fairly and in a transparent manner;
- adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary and kept up to date;
- kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data is processed;
- processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage.

"Data Protection Legislation" means all applicable privacy and data protection legislation and regulations including the Privacy and Electronic Communications (EC Directive) Regulations 2003 (SI 2426/2003) (PECR), General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR), and all applicable laws and regulations relating to processing of personal data and privacy of electronic communications so far as they are still in force, including where applicable, the guidance and codes of practice issued by the Information Commissioner.

In light of GDPR, we have undertaken a full review of our data protection policies and procedures.
